MISSING GIRL FOUND IN PARK

Helen McCarthy, Feared Abducted, Lived Two Days on Cake and Sandwiches

New York, June 26.—Helen McCarthy, the 6 year old daughter of John A. McCarthy of 112 West Seventy Second street, who disappeared from her home last Tuesday morning was found at Fort Washington Park this afternoon. The girl who looks several years younger than she is, was in a state of exhaustion and able to tell very little of her wanderings during the two days she has been away from her home.

She was found by two young men who thought they recognized her as the missing girl, and reported their suspicion to mounted policeman Richard Holt, who led the heavy eyed, tired little maid to the West 179th street police station, where she was later identified and taken home by her father. A forlorn miss who had subsisted for two days on sandwiches and cake washed down by fountain water, the girl was found huddled against a tree in the park, overlooking the Hudson river, a hundred blocks from the hotel where she lived.

The recovery of the girl followed a 48 hour ceaseless search by the police, who lies that an hour before the news that she had been found was flashed down town, had just completed an inspection of every hospital and other institutions in New York in which the girl might have been taken had she met with an accident or been the victim of foul play. When found the little girl was suffering from extreme exhaustion.

It was about 4 o'clock in the afternoon when the two young men in the park noticed the weary little girl in short dresses. These young men were Joseph Daley and Frank Brophy of this city. Both had read of Helen McCarthy's disappearance in the papers and thought that the diminutive figure in pink matched her description.

Brophy and Daley spoke to the girl and asked her what her name was. "Patty White," the child replied to a low voice.

"Where do you live?" Daley asked. "Over in New Jersey. My people have gone away and I have forgotten where they live," Helen answered slowly.

Convinced that the young girl was Helen McCarthy, the young men summoned Policeman Holt. They told Holt of their suspicions as to the identity of the girl. Holt noticed that the girl was trying to remove a ring from her finger. It was a signet ring that had belonged to her sister, who died three years ago. He remembered that in the police description of the girl it was stated that she wore a signet ring, engraved inside of which were the initials "M. McC."

At that moment Inspector George E. Titus came along in a police automobile. Titus recognized the girl at once and told Holt to take her to the station but to do it in such a way as not to attract attention. Holt left his horse in charge of another mounted policeman near the park, then taking the girl half carried her to the station. Inspector Titus came in and ordered her a dainty breakfast and then questioned her in a kindly fatherly way. The child responded and told him what she could. The account of her wanderings was not very clear, but there seems little doubt

POSTMASTERS MUST SUBMIT TO EXAMINATIONS

Those of the Fourth Grade the First to Be Examined.

Washington, June 26.—Fourth class postmasters in Vermont, New Hampshire, Florida and New Mexico, whose salaries exceed $180 a year and who did not get their offices as a result of civil service examinations, will be required to take such competitive examinations in the near future.

Postmaster General Burleson, probably through the civil service commission, will issue an order shortly requiring incumbents and applicants for appointment to fourth class postmasterhips all over the country to take mental tests of their qualifications.

The states will be divided into groups of four for the purpose of facilitating the work of the civil service commission and the four named will be dealt with first.

HAVING A FINE TIME.

New Hampshire Druggists Making Most of Their Stay at New Castle.

The members of the New Hampshire Pharmaceutical Association who are in session at the hotel Wentworth, New Castle, are having a very enjoyable time. The day was an ideal one for the seagiving trip and was greatly enjoyed by all who participated.

At the business meeting held this morning the following officers were elected: President, Eugene W. Emerson, Milton Mills; vice president, J. H. Bolte of Manchester, H. S. Parker of Ashland; secretary, Charles G. Dunnington, Manchester; treasurer, S. Howard Bell, Derry; auditor, John H. Marshall, Manchester; executive committee, H. E. Rice of Nashua, Charles C. ## BAD BOYS.

Said to Have Cut Auto Tires on High Street.

The owners of two automobiles reported to the police today that their machines had been damaged by a knife in the hands of boys. The autos were left standing on High street, while the owners went to lunch. On their return they found a tire valued at $65 badly cut and the horn bulb of another machine also slashed. The police have made several arrests today and expect to get the guilty party. In the future it is likely that the boys who have been hanging around that street for some time will have to take a walk.

BIG STICK FOR THE PRESIDENT

Retaliatory Tariff Plan is Proposed and Stirs Up Strong Opposition in Caucus

Washington, June 26.—Urgent desire to arm the President with a tariff "big stick," one of stronger and greater proportions than provided in the amendment suggested by the Finance Committee majority, developed today in the democratic caucus of the Senate on the tariff bill.

Discussion of the proposed counter-vailing duty on wheat and flour, which the committee recommended, led to a general debate on retaliatory and countervailing duties, and Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia urgently proposed the adoption of an amendment that would give the President power to enforce countervailing tariff rates on all commodities against any Nation refusing to deal with the United States on a reciprocal basis.

The amendment proposed would in many respects take the place of the maximum and minimum clause of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law, but Senator Smith advocated a provision that would be broader than that, one that would give the President the authority at any time to interpose against any Nation which might discriminate against the products of the United States the same tariff rates exacted on American goods.

Strong opposition developed at once. Among senators who attacked the idea were O'Gorman, Reed and Murline. Debate was warm when the caucus was forced to recess for the afternoon session of the Senate and it was resumed tonight.

After the battle over free sugar and free wool had been won yesterday by the Administration forces, Senators opposed to the schedules renewed their activities for an amendment which would extend the time when the sugar and wool schedules are to become effective after the passage of the act.

Senator Ransdell has an amendment to extend the date of the sugar schedule until Feb. 1, 1914, permitting sugar planters and refiners to get rid of this year's crop without the burden of the decreased tariff. This has been referred to the majority of the Finance Committee for consideration. The committee will recommend some form of amendment later to the caucus.

Other suggestions propose to suspend the operation of the sugar duties for three months after the passage of the bill and that the rates on manufactures of wool be made effective 60 days and the free raw wool provision 60 days after enactment of the law.

HOPE TO AVERT BIG RAILROAD STRIKE

Senate Amends the Erdman Law Making President an Official Mediator.

Washington, June 26.—With a view to averting the threatened strike of 80,000 railway employees east of Chicago, the Senate today rushed through the passage of amendments to the Erdman Mediation act sought by the railways and railway employees as affording suitable machinery for the settlement of their pending disagreements.

Action came only after determined fighting for unanimous consent to consider the measure by both the democratic and republican members of the Interstate Commerce Committee, led by Senator Newlands.

The amendments enlarge the Board of Arbitration provided under the Erdman act from three to six. The railways have declined to submit the present disputes to a board composed of only three members.

It also provides for the appointment by the President of an official mediator, independent of all Government bureaus, at a salary of $7500.

Senator Newlands admitted that Secretary Wilson opposed the bill because the mediator was made independent of the Department of Labor.

Senator Robinson said the committee had been informed that all the railroads east of Chicago had agreed with their 80,000 employees that they could not arbitrate under the Erdman act but would seek to settle their difficulties under the terms of the proposed amendments.

Cigarettes Thrown From Car Windows and Autos Start Fire.

MORIN-DALEY.

One of the prettiest weddings that has occurred in the north country for many years took place on Wednesday at the Sacred Heart church, North Stratford, when Miss Mary H. Daley of that town became the wife of Dr. Jeremiah J. Morin of Rochester. The ceremony was performed by Rev. William J. Cavanaugh a former assistant in the Portsmouth parish. A high nuptial mass followed the marriage ceremony at which there was special music and an orchestra. The bridegroom was Miss Mildred Daley, sister of the bride and the best man was Dr. W. P. Ryan of Holyoke. A reception at Elm Farm, one of the most beautiful locations in the coun-

EXECUTORS TURN OVER EDDY PROPERTY

Residue of $2,633,913.62 to Go to Church Soon.

Concord, June 26.—The final account of the late Hon. Henry M. Baker, executor of the last will and testament of the late Rev. Mary Baker G. Eddy, has been settled and allowed in the Probate court for Merrimack county, through Rufus N. Baker and Sherman E. Burroughs, executors of the will of Mr. Baker, who died in Washington on May 30, 1912, and all the property in their hands has been turned over to Joseph E. Fernald of this city, who was appointed by the court to administer the estate.

The account is of interest as showing the size of the estate of the late Mrs. Eddy in New Hampshire, the largest ever administered by the courts of Merrimack county.

According to the figures filed by Messrs. Baker and Burroughs, they received from the Eddy estate remaining in Mr. Baker's hands at the time of his death the sum of $534,354.54, from which was paid out in legacies, etc., $308,941.92, leaving a balance of $225,412.62.

They also charge themselves with cash in saving banks totaling $8936.73, bonds, securities, etc., appraised at $998,808.50 and goods and chattels, the furniture at Pleasant View in this city, and copyrights on Mrs. Eddy's publications appraised at $1,401,326.36, the whole amounting to $2,633,913.62.

Among the bequests which have been paid are the following: Francis A. Baker, $500; Charles C. Moore, estate of George H. Moore, $500; Fred N. Ladd, $250; Andrew J. Glover, $10,000; Calvin A. Frye, $10,000; Lydia H. Hall, $500; Mary Baker Glover, $10,000; George W. Glover, Jr., $10,000; Edward Gresham Glover, $10,000; Laura E. Sargent, $1750; Pamela J. Leonard, $2500; Henrietta E. Chaffraun, $500; and the Second Church of Christ, Scientist, New York city, $72,349.

The expenses of administration to the time the estate was turned over to Mr. Fernald were $79,024.26, not including the sum of $30,000 allowed the various executors for their personal services.

An item in the $534,354.54 of receipts was $300,000 paid the estate by the Christian Science Publishing House of Boston.

It is expected that the estate will be turned over to the trustees of the First Church in Boston in a very short time, as a decision by the Supreme court on a petition for instruction by Mr. Fernald as to the disposition of the estate in his hands is looked for on Friday when the court sits for the last time before the summer vacation.

Under the decision of the court upholding the validity of the trust, it was ordered that the estate be turned over to the trustees to be named by Judge Corning of the Probate court for Merrimack county; but since the settlement of the litigation by the heirs, and the passage of the enabling act in Massachusetts, which permitted Mrs. Eddy's property in that State to go to the church, the conditions have so changed as to make further instructions desirable before proceeding to a final settlement.

ELKS DEFEAT Y.M.C.A. IN A FAST GAME

Sarette Pitched a Great Game and Got Good Support.

In a fast and interesting game on Thursday evening the Elks defeated the Y. M. C. A. 2 to 0. Sarette pitched his team to a clear cut win, although at times he was hard pressed but pulled through beautifully. In the second the Young Men had three men on bases with three singles and with but one out, but C. Brackett fouled out to Deffen and Sarette forced Leary to hit to him. He not only pitched well but held his position firmly and his throwing to first was deadly accurate, a fact that the Y. M. C. A. players will find out in time. He had seven strike outs and four assists not allowing much for the remainder of the team to look after. He got great support from Deffen who made one fine catch of C. Brackett's foul fly which was well down beyond the players bench.

Morris pitched for the losing team and he did a good job keeping his hits well scattered with the exception of the third and in the first with two men on he struck out McKoon and called a hot liner from Cragan. He got very fine support from Howard playing a great game at short and his catch off Sarette was a feature. Young Marden made a great throw to the plate in the first when from center he threw Hughes out at the plate when he attempted to stretch a three base hit into a home run.

The Game in Detail.

FIRST INNING

The Young Men were up and Ralph Brackett fanned, Deffenok and Palmer hit to Sarette and were out at first.

Hughes opened with a long drive to left center and tried for home. Marden took the relay in from Timmons and with a beautiful peg nailed Hughes at home. Hanson hit to C. Brackett, who slipped for a second and Timmons beat his throw. He was advanced on Deffenok's single and both advanced on a short passed ball McKoon fanned and Cragan hit a liner at Morris that he nailed.

SECOND INNING

Morris started with a fan, Deffenok dropping the ball but making good at first. Howard singled, Timmons followed suit and Marden raised another over short and the bases were full and it looked equally for Sarette. C. Brackett popped a fly along the third base line that Deffenok made a fine catch of and Leary hit a weak one to Sarette who threw him out at first.

Able was thrown out by Marden, Davis hit to Howard, Sheehan singled and Sarette hit a fly over first and Howard made a great catch.

THIRD INNING

R. Brackett singled but fell a victim to Sarette's accurate throwing to first. Deffenok fanned and Palmer gained life on Sheehan's fumble, but he was nailed trying for second.

Hughes started with a single and Hanson followed suit. Deffenok was hit and it filled the bases and McKoon came across with a single between second and short that scored Hughes and Hanson. McKoon stole second and Deffenok threw to Howard and he relayed it back in time to get Deffenok who thought he could make home on the play. Cragan was passed and Able hit to C. Brackett who

"Death Valley" Jim Scott of White Sox Hard Luck Pitcher of Season

Chicago, June 27 "Death Valley" Jim Scott is the hard luck pitcher of the season. Since the start of the 1913 campaign the White Sox have delivered a first class article of ball, but has been unfortunate in losing a number of games by one run, or failure of his teammates to hit with him in the box. In a recent game against St. Louis Scott's performance in the box was remarkable. In this contest he fanned 15 of the Brown's batters. In the sixth and seventh innings he struck out every batter that faced him, but weak work with the stick by his teammates caused him to lose the game by a score of 2 to 0.

MELLEN'S RESPONSIBILITY.

A disposition which seems manifest in some instances to hold President Mellen of the New Haven personally responsible for some of the unfortunate accidents which have recently occurred on that road is regrettable and unjust to the last degree, and, being so contrary to the boasted American spirit of fair play, reflects discredit upon any individual who utters or entertains an opinion which unpleasantly involves the gentleman in question in the way indicated.

Mr. Mellen is a man who by the force of his genius has risen to a first place among the directors of railroad interests in the country and to attempt to connect him with the recent casualty is absolutely wrong and cruel. He has enjoyed and continues to retain the profound respect of the people of the country, from the highest to the lowest, and to believe that he could be guilty of such a wantonly and malicious act is to believe that he is a man of no honor and no conscience.

THE SALE PRICE A MENACE TO SOCIETY

Troy, N. Y., June 26.—Justice Wesley O. Howard of the Appellate division of the supreme court in an address at the High School Alumni banquet assailed men of great wealth and denounced tariff tinkering in Washington and direct primary legislation in Albany.

"One of the most dangerous maladies of the country today," said he, "are the idle millionaires. The sons of the rich, arrogant, insolent, without calling or occupation, are not only a nuisance to society, but a curse and a menace to the republic. They are the parasites of civilization, drawing their nourishment not from the soil but from the bodies of others. They are the propagators of hatred between the classes and the masses."

"These drones of society sap the substance of the poor; each one wastes more than 100 families consume. By their extravagance they augment the high cost of living. They cut the steaks and the laboring man buys the bones. A condition like this is unhealthy in a republic. It cannot long be tolerated with safety. It demands the serious attention of statesmen. But statesmen are afraid of wealth. It has frightful powers of destruction. Its use has wonderful capacity to coax away statesmen from their convulsions."

Of the tariff the justice said: "While Congress wrestles with the tariff Japan is surveying our islands in the Pacific ocean. Some morning we will wake up to find that every ship is sunk and every port captured in the Philippine Islands. Then Congress will desert from its chronic habit of the tariff and start to build a navy."

WILSON PLAYING CURSELESS
GOLF.

Washington, June 26.—When President Wilson swears at the golf ball and misses he says things to the golf clubs, but under his breath. But never does he swear.

So says Robert Emmet Taylor, freckled and 14, official caddy for the President on the Washington Country Club green.

"The other day," said Robert, "the President knocked a ball to the very edge of a hole, where it stood for a second, then whirled around and stood still again. I sneaked up close to the President to see what he would say."

"Tut, tut," was all."

GETTYSBURG CELEBRATION

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 26.—The official program of the celebration of the 60th anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg, July 1 to 4, was completed this morning and was announced by Col. J. M. Schoonmaker of this city, chairman of the battle of Gettysburg anniversary commission. The ceremonies will be:

Veterans' day, Tuesday, July 1.—Col. Schoonmaker presiding. Addresses by Lindley M. Garrison, secretary of war, Gov. John K. Tener of Pennsylvania; Alfred B. Beers, commander in chief, G. A. R., and Gen. Benoit H. Young, commander-in-chief United Confederate Veterans.

Military day, Wednesday, July 2.—Col. Andrew Cowan, Louisville, Ky., presiding. Addresses by Major Gen. John R. Brooke of Pennsylvania, representative of northern forces in the battle; Sergeant John C. Scurborough of North Carolina, representative of southern forces in the battle and Gen. John C. Black.

Governor's day, Thursday, July 3, John K. Tener, governor of Pennsylvania, presiding. Addresses by Governor Tener and Governor James B. McCreary of Kentucky.

No set program has been arranged by the commission for July 4, with the idea that many of the veterans and visitors would desire time to visit various sites on the battlefield or rest after the three days of meetings.

STRIKES EASILY CAUSED

Many Labor Wars are Brought About
By Trivial Incidents

The threatened strike on the Midland railway due to a dismissal of a guard for sticking too closely to the letter of his instructions, is not the only instance on record of big events of the kind springing from similar little causes. A land labor war was due to the work people's desire to wear list slippers in a mill where dogs were regarded as unsafe. At Sunderland a foreman shipwright casually told a workman to "hurry up" and the implied reproach being resented, an unusually bitter strike was the result. At Jarrow-on-Tyne, workmen struck because they objected to the use of brass checks.

There have been at least a score of strikes big and little, over the question of whether girls could be permitted to wear fringes in mills filled with dangerous machinery. The actual cause of the outbreak of the disastrous Taff Valley railway strike was that a couple of guards were compelled to change brake vans against will.

Because one of their number resented being told by a foreman to cut his nails some 300 workmen at Smith's came out on strike not long ago. It was explained afterwards that it was customary for the operatives to keep their nails pared close, as otherwise small quantities of the filings of the precious metal in which they wrought might easily work underneath them and be lost. The strike of the Manchester nippers, a novelty in labor wars which at one time threatened to dislocate the trade not only at Manchester, but at Liverpool as well, was brought about through an adult workman interfering in a game of marbles—London Tit Bits.

THE HIRED HELP QUESTION

This has always seemed to us to be the most serious problem on the farm. How is it to be met? We have found but one way and we sometimes marvel that it is not quite generally adopted. This is to provide a comfortable separate house on the farm for the hired man, or employ married men. This of course is not entirely practicable for the farmer who rents but where a farmer has one hundred and sixty acres of land or more, certainly this is the way of solving the hired help question. It removes the woman of the house from the task of rooming, washing, cooking and mending for the stranger. It is also a great comfort to any farmer's wife to know that there is another woman on the farm. For however great the attachment of the wife to her husband and her children, she longs occasionally for the fellowship of one of her own sex, one who has had the same difficulties and problems to meet—all this quite apart from any help that can be given her in the time of need.

Human nature in hired help is no different from human nature in the farmer. Among rich and poor the world over. It craves society and the unmarried man will seek it. Hence the horse and buggy of the hired man to be found on so many farms. The farmer has no right to complain of that. He was young himself once and liked to go to see the girls, and to associate with other boys. He had this same hungering after fellowship he must recognize that. Hence the married man, other things being equal he is a good deal better help than the single man. He has his own fellowship in his home with his wife and children. He is not away from the farm at night. He does not grumble with the assailing with the milking or the chores, for he has his own home and fireside to which to go when his work is done.

This of course is not practical if the farmer has not work for a hand the year around. He must arrange his system of farm management so as to provide the work. In other words he must diversify his farming, must become to some extent a live stock farmer. It is not difficult when dairying or feeding cattle or hogs is carried on to find work and profitable work for the hired hand the year around.—Wallace's Farmer.

M'CORMICK ENTERS FLYING BOAT CONTEST AT CHICAGO.

Chicago, June 26.—Harold M. McCormick has entered his flying boat in the hydro-aeroplane race from this city to Detroit July 8. The entry was announced yesterday by J. F. Noel, steward of the Aero Club of America. The machine will be piloted by C. C. Wilmes, and Mr. McCormick will be a passenger.

Two McCormick entry substitutes that of Lieut. J. H. Towers, the navy aviator who was injured last week when an aeroplane in which he was a passenger fell into Chesapeake Bay.

ONE DAY AT A TIME

One day at a time! That's all it can be;
No faster than that is the hardest fate;
And days have their limits, however we Begin them too early and stretch them too late.

One day at a time!
It's a wholesome rhyme:
A good one to live by,
A day at a time.

One day at a time! Every heart that aches,
Knowing only too well how long they seem;
But it's never today when the spirit breaks—
It's the darkened future without a gleam.

One day at a time when joy is at height,
Such joy at the heart can never forget,
And pulses are throbbing with wild delight,
How hard to remember that suns must set.

One day at a time! But a single day,
Whatever its load, whatever its length;
And there's a bit of precious scripture to say
That according to each shall be our strength.

One day at a time! 'Tis the whole of life;
All sorrow, all joy are measured therein,
The bound of our purpose, our noblest strife,
The one only countersign sure to win.

One day at a time!
It's a wholesome rhyme:
A good one to live by,
A day at a time!

EDUCATION NOTES.

With its newly established bureau of mines, the University of Arizona hopes to aid materially in the development of mining and other industries of the State.

Using the library as a social center, with study clubs and other activities, including a gymnasium, is the method taken by Jonesboro, Pa., to demonstrate that a library need not be merely a "mansueto of books."

The distinction of having the best paid one-room country school teacher in the United States is claimed by Logan county, Ill., which pays its teacher $110 per month for a term of nine months.

Through its extension division the University of Kansas will give courses of lectures on moral education in a number of the largest cities of the State during the fall of 1913.

School lunches are served free or at nominal cost to elementary school children in 41 American cities, in 200 English, 150 German, and 1,200 French communities, according to C. F. Langworthy, chief of nutrition investigations, at Washington.

Thanks to the wide-awake leadership of men and women, especially women, interested in the schools, a number of Southern communities are making a winning fight against illiteracy. Wilkes county, N. C., for instance, reports, together with other notable indications of school betterment, the fact that illiteracy decreased from 18 per cent. in 1900 to 2 per cent. in 1912.

In the belief that rich ballad material still lies hidden in Virginia and other sections of the South, Prof. C. Alphonso Smith, of the University of Virginia, is hunting down all possible versions of old English ballads. The government has appointed Professor Smith a collaborator of the Bureau of Education in order to give material national aid to the work.

"For first-year pupils only" is the motto of the Parker High School at Dayton, Ohio. The object of this school is to carry boys and girls over the difficult "freshman" period. Supt. Painter has recently put into the hands of every eighth-grade pupil in Dayton a booklet describing the purpose and value of a high-school education with special reference to the advantages of the Parker First-Year High School.

Canada is appropriating money liberally for school purposes, according to Miss Anna Tolman Smith, of the United States Bureau of Education. "The older provinces, like the long-settled States of the Union," says Miss Smith, "are readjusting their systems of public education to the new conditions growing out of modern industrial life; while the newer provinces are striving to build up adequate systems that shall include the best of the old and new in education."

The spirit of the new country life was fittingly celebrated in the program just held at Meriden, N. H., in connection with the hundredth anniversary of Kimball Union Academy. Besides portraying the history of the town and school, the program symbolized particularly the school's purpose in the new country-life movement: "To prepare the young people of the surrounding agricultural regions for the life they are to lead, and to train them to make life on the farm a high source of joy, culture, and inspiration for fine citizenship."

PUBLIC SENTIMENT IN SPAIN.

The best of the Alcazar in the Alcazar Gardens. But I would not ignore the homelike charm of the east court by which you enter from the street outside to the palace beyond. It is planted exactly about with rather shabby orange trees that children were playing under, and was decorated with the week's wash of the low, simple dwellings which may be hired at a rental moderate even for Seville, where a handsome and commodious house in a good quarter rents for $60 a year.

One of these two-story cottages, as we should call them, in the Antequera of the Alcazar had for the student of Spanish life the special advantage of a lower close to a ground-floor window dropping tender nothing down through the shade of the shutter to some maiden looking within.

The things were so tender that you could hear them drop, and besides, they were Spanish nothings, and it would not have served any purpose for the stranger to listen for them. Once afterward we saw the National courtship going on at another easement, but that was at night, and here the precious first sight of it was offered at 10 o'clock in the morning.

Nobody seemed to mind the lover stationed outside the shutter with which the iron bars forbade him the closest contact; and it is only fair to say that he minded nobody; he was there when we went in and there when we came out, and it appears that when it is a question of love-making there is no more an object in Spain than in the United States. The scene would have been better by moonlight, but you cannot always have it moonlight, and the sun did very well; at least, the lover did not seem to miss the moon.—W. D. Howells, in Harper's Magazine.

POLICE COURT

The continued case of Mrs. Beesle Andler for insult of Mrs. Barolla was called in police court on Thursday and her counsel Lawyer Gray, asked for a continuance for two months on account of the physical condition of his client. Counsel for the plaintiff S. W. Emery objected to this, on the ground that the woman was about the streets and furthermore since the continuance of the case had annoyed the plaintiff so that she had made repeated complaints to the police. Judge Sines ordered the woman to appear in court for arraignment and she entered a plea of not guilty and the case was continued, the judge impressing on the defendant that in the meanwhile she must be of good behavior.

HORSES BLINDED
TO INCREASE VALUE

Chicago, June 26.—That a large number of horses in Chicago have been deliberately made blind to make them more easily managed is the report of agents of the anti-cruelty society, whose curiosity was aroused by the docility of young and apparently normal animals. Warrants will be asked today for horse dealers accused of the mutilations.

"These horses have been blinded by men who guarantee to purchasers that they will not shy and need no blinders," said Hugo Kraus, superintendent of the society. "A needle has been jabbed through each retina. The wound is scarcely noticeable, but a horse so treated never will see again. Peddlers in particular desire horses which are quiet, and the blinding of the animals has been put on a commercial basis."

In the South Water street market yesterday fifty horses were found that had been blinded, presumably by this method.

"New England Without Boston."

The Portland Press, in a somewhat jocose vein, hands some plain truths to Boston and her selfish business men who have been masquerading under false colors. It is true that New England is waking up and it is doing so without the aid of Boston. Portsmouth is more than delighted with the prospects for Portland's growth. Here is the way the Portland Press replies to the subjoined paragraph from the Boston Globe:

It is a pleasure to note the growth of Portland—appropriately named—as a port. Boston is always pleased to observe progress in her suburbs.—Boston Globe.

"For fear that his paragraph, which appeared in an obscure newspaper published in Boston, may be read by some one who may be led to associate our fair city with the overgrown village on Massachusetts Bay we hasten to deny that Portland is a suburb of the town which is ruled by 'Honey Fitz.' The self-sufficiency of the Bostonese is so well understood wherever the English language is spoken that it is a waste of time to endeavor to convince them that there may be some people, somewhere, who would not esteem it an honor to be annexed to their village. Portland seeks no such distinction. The man who put 'Boss' in Boston does not appeal to us as a ruler; nor are we to be wooed by a sweet (nor voice singing with a brogue a song which our grandsires hummed when they marched to Bunker Hill to drive out the British.

"The reputation our city enjoys for its love of the beautiful in nature, art and character is not to be snatched by even indirect association with the overgrown town which worships at the shrine of 'Honey Fitz'; whose claim to distinction is falsely based upon being the home of baked beans and which long ago hit the toboggan slide which terminates among the decadent cities of the country. Boston's past is all she has left, outside of 'Honey Fitz.' Even John L. Sullivan, a product of her effete culture, has followed the sun westward and has located among the roses of California. We appreciate the fact that Boston must annex something which has virility, hope and a future if she is to continue to occupy a respectable space upon the map, but she can't have us. Her harbor, which was overcrowded when the old Constitution made it a rendezvous a hundred years ago, is a frog pond in size and possibilities compared with our own, and we can well understand why Boston would be glad to have our port annexed to her own. Having succeeded in shaking ourselves free of the tentacles of Boston financiers which have been sapping the life blood out of this city and all the rest of New England for a century, Portland has its face toward the rising sun and the shadow of prosperity she is casting is ever growing larger. We even have a ball team which is of pennant winning proportions, which is more than Boston can say, and when people in that part of the country which distinguishes between decadence and youthful vigor think of the East-to-day it is not of Boston but of Portland of which they dream."

Is It Still Popular to Roast the Railroads?

The public is getting suspicious of the Boston Post's unjust attacks upon President C. S. Mellen. The method that the Post is pursuing in printing false stories to the effect that the big interests in the New England Lines are going to oust Mr. Mellen, etc., when such statements are contrary to the facts, and that these big interests are asking him to continue shows a spirit with something back of it besides fair play. The Post's treatment of the railroad situation has been of a vindictive style and has lost and is losing that paper friends among the thousands of well paid men in the New England railroad field. Mr. Mellen may have faults, but he is doing more for Boston and New England than the entire "knocking press" of Boston, which simply tries to boost its circulation at the expense of men's character and their ruin if necessary. Isn't it about time to allow the men at the head of the New England lines to give a few months to the business of the railroads?

Cut the Red Tape.

The gathering of the members of the army of the sixties at Gettysburg will be an historical event in the nation's history. It was perhaps the most critical battle of the war. Had the invading forces been successful in passing that point they would have wrought great damage to the cities and towns of the North, and while it would not have been possible for them to long have escaped defeat, yet it was of great moment that the defeat came when it did. Congress has done the right thing in providing for the gathering and the states that they have appropriated money for the expenses of the men who served in the war. There should be no shortage even if money has to be used that has not been appropriated. The rumor that ample provision has not been made should excite the powers that be to see that it is not proven true even if a point or several points have to be stretched to the breaking. Cut the red tape.—Franklin Journal-Transcript.

MISSING GIRL FOUND IN PARK

that she spent two nights and most of two days in the park. The inspector tried to get the child to admit that she was Helen McCarthy, but for a long time she insisted that she was Patty White. Finally, however, she admitted that the inspector was right. Then she told him about wandering in the park. She said that she had very little sleep.

"I did sleep a little on a street car," she said "but I don't know where the car was going."

Mr. McCarthy arrived about 5 o'clock at the station and found his little daughter asleep in a chair in the captain's room. He did not show any emotion over finding her. Soon after Mr. McCarthy accompanied by Edward Clarke one of his friends started down town with his daughter. She was so weak and tired that she had to be carried to the automobile and when the machine reached the Seventy-second street entrance to the Hargrave. Mr. McCarthy took her in his arms and carried her through the crowd that had gathered in the hotel and took her to his apartment. There Mrs. McCarthy and several women friends were waiting. Liott, Bennett and Detective Sharpe who had accompanied Mr. McCarthy down town said afterwards that Mrs. McCarthy looked at her daughter as if faded and didn't clasp her in her arms as many women would have under the circumstances.

THE FEAST OF THE PASSOVER

The feast of the Passover had been ordered by the Governor for the third week of the sixth month. It had been one hundred and eighty days since he had left the children of Democracy into the land flowing with milk and honey, and as yet they were still feeding upon the manna of the wilderness. Three times they had come up to the tabernacle in the statehouse yard to partake of the spoils of the Republicans, and three times they had gone away empty handed. Only Progressives had been permitted to pick from the fruitful orchards. The murmuring had at last reached the ears of the Governor, and he had therefore decreed that sacrifices should be made before the summer solstice was ended and that Democrats should no longer starve within sight of the promised land. Accordingly the Democratic Centurions and the Progressive Centurions docked to the Capitol.

They came as the waves come, when Forewinds are roused; They came as the waves come, when Navies are stranded.

For two days they filed in before Samuel and his counselors. Expectancy sat on edge. The look of hunger faded from Democratic eyes as the Progressives took heart as the auditor read to them again the supplementary agreements. The platforms of candidates for license commissioners marched with confidence. The companies would be purchased again walked with stately tread, and the regiment of laughing jokers justified were a goodly sight to behold. The third day the Governor and his counselors sat in solemn conference. As the sun sank from sight in the west the door of the council chamber opened and it was announced that another needed refuge had been discovered and commissioned for Gratification and that the council had adjourned. It was a sorrowful multitude that then went down from the temple for the feast of the Passover had turned to the melancholy and ashes of another fast.

"William," said the governor after the other counselors had gone, "how is it that our deeds are known of men before they are officially promulgated? I have just been asked on the telephone for our list of police justices, whose nominations must be over three days before confirmation."

"I know not, Your Excellency. I did not make them known to you and my associates until late this afternoon. The councilman from Portsmouth must have communicated with his son in law. I surely have guarded you from all publicity. In my own name I have turned down applicants for office, and while easily forecasting your mind I have been chary in my promises. I am really surprised at the public interest in those minor appointments when all eyes are centered upon the supreme bench. I suppose Your Excellency is informed at the discovery of the Monitor that there is a grave defect in the law for the expenses of the public service commission?"

"What William, another act of the legislature gone wrong? This makes the eleventh."

"Yes Your Excellency, our provision making the public service corporations pay the expenses of all hearings before the commission was picked out of sight by a senate amendment. The cost to the state will be over $50,000 for the two years of your administration. The only way to save this sum is for the supreme court to lift this amendment from the engrossed copy of the law you have signed. It must now be apparent to Your Excellency that there is no room in postponing the appointment of Judge Bligham's successor until fall. The court will surely decide on this question or dismiles it, unless as their associate I can assure them that the draft of the law in my handwriting is what the legislature should have passed."

Rich Aviator Not Afraid of Neck In His New "Pullman" Air Boat.

Photos by American Press Association.

Owning the most luxurious flying boat ever made, L. A. Vilas, a rich Chicagoan, made many interesting trips for sport's sake over Pelham bay, near New York city. He said he was not afraid of risking his neck. His hydroaeroplane, built by Glenn H. Curtiss, is modeled after the government flying boat which was recently accepted after several tests. Mr. Vilas' machine, however, is more elaborate. He calls it his air Pullman. It is fitted in mahogany, and its seats are upholstered in fine leather. The fittings are nickel plated. The plane is forty feet wide and twenty-six feet long. It has a hundred horsepower motor and can go fifty-five miles an hour in the water and sixty-five miles in the air. One of Mr. Vilas' first passengers in the east was Oscar S. Straus, who ran for governor on the Progressive ticket last autumn.

"William I am not a profane man and I cannot be said of me that I take the name of the Lord in vain on trivial occasions, but if George Washington was justified for swearing at General Lee, when he met him in full retreat at Monmouth, I shall be held guiltless if I ruin oaths and imprecations upon the heads of this wooden Democratic senate. The State Hospital will cost us $50,000 more because of their blunder, and now $80,000 additional will be drawn from the treasury because of the senate clerk who has freed his hand with me. Why did we trust that body with maelstrom anyway? Plus would have been cheaper and safer. If they had pinned an amendment in the wrong place the error would have been corrected. The Democratic fourteen have guessed the whole administration. Why did I appoint one of them as fish commissioner?"

"This comes William of your suggestion of early appointments. We must revise our list of police justices. Some senators may have got by us."

"Peace, Your Excellency," replied the Councilman in charge. "Cholerical utterances do not become you. All is not lost, I am still with you. You will recall that the Democratic nomination for the Councilman in my district went begging. I took it. Nobody expected me to be elected. Yet I was the choice of the people, and thus the stone which the builders rejected has become the head of the corner." The legislature has failed you. The judiciary may be your salvation. It needs that your act to crown your administration with triumph. Our glories are mostly most modern. When future generations judge my decisions little will they remember that the clerk of the senate fell into the paste pot but they will recall to our credit that you gave to the judiciary a worthy successor a worthy successor in Marshall and Story."

At this point the Councilman in Charge was called to the telephone. The Governor was heard to remark as if communing with himself, "A Wooden Senate. Too Much Sawyer."

THE STATE SUPERINTENDENT.

Constant growth in the importance of the position of State Superintendent of Schools is reported by the United States Bureau of Education. In his survey of the educational legislature for the year Mr. J. C. Boykin declares:

"The importance of the office constantly increases. New duties and larger salaries are offered to attract responsibilities are steadily added, and hold men of the caliber to make the position in fact as well as in name the head of the state educational system."

"The tendencies are all in the way of increasing the dignity, responsibility, and salary of the state superintendent. The legislation of the year contained many instances in point. The commissioner of education in Massachusetts was authorized to approve bills for expenditure from funds placed under the direction of the board of education. In New Jersey the state commissioner of education now appoints all the county superintendents. He also determines and certifies to the educational qualifications of applicants for admission to medical colleges.

"In Kentucky it was enacted that the state superintendent shall act as special state inspector and examiner of all schools in the state which receive public funds; for this service he is to receive $1,500 additional salary; he may appoint two assistants, at $1,000 each per annum, with their expenses for traveling; and he is allowed $2,000 additional for clerk hire. In a vague and general way the superintendent probably already had the power given him by law, but it is now definite and specific, and the additional help given him will enable him to perform his duties in an effective manner not possible hitherto. And the $1,500 added to his salary will prove to be a difference that is very real."

Although the tendency to increase the power and responsibility of the state superintendent is very strong, salary advancements have not always kept pace with the requirements, according to the report. "It is still unfortunately true," says Mr. Boykin, "that in many cases the superintendents of the large cities and the heads of all the important institutions in a state receive considerably higher salaries and have far more certain tenure than the man who is nominally their official superior."

CURRENT OPINION

Our National Extravagance
Is Increasing Dependents.

One of the evils which have been responsible for the money strain both here and abroad is the ever growing extravagance and wastefulness of the American people. As an instance of this look at the use of pleasure automobiles by so many thousands of persons who cannot afford such luxury.

Statistics show that eighty-eight out of every hundred men over sixty-two years of age are dependent on children or charity.

This is convincing proof of national profligacy in this land of plenty where opportunity exists for every man to gain at least a competency.

We have inherited this vice in the same way and for much the same reasons that we have inherited our characteristic optimism. So persistent and buoyant is this habit of our looking always on the rosy side that we blind ourselves often to real danger, and decline not only to profit by lessons of the past, but refuse either to heed these lessons or to remember their bitterness.—Joseph T. Talbot, Vice President of the National City Bank of New York.

LIFE SAVING STATION

The Scene of a Very Pretty Wedding.

The boat room of the Fletchers Neck Life Saving Station at Biddeford Pool, was the scene of a brilliant wedding when was consummated the marriage of Clifford Blanchard Staples, son of Captain Joseph Staples of the life saving crew, and Miss Elsie Russell Rowley of Lawrence, Mass.

In one end of the room was a bank of daisies and ferns, with a marriage bell. Beneath this bell the marriage ceremony was performed. Rev. J. M. ### ON LOTTERY CHARGE.

Boston Parties Said to Have Formed Furniture Club at Milford.

On Thursday, Chief of Police Goodwin of Milford arrested Augustus Roberts and Miss Mary E. Merrifield of Boston, charged with maintaining a lottery. The police have held warrants against these people for several days, but did not serve them until today.

Roberts telephoned to the office of a Boston furniture company, who, through its attorneys, Hale & Dickerman of Boston, and G. P. Jackson of Nahant, furnished bail for the appearance of the two in court at a later date.

Roberts and Merrifield have been working Milford for several weeks. The woman would call first, securing customers and collecting 25 cents. Once a week Roberts would come and make further collections.

About 75 people were formed into a club, paying 25 cents a week, with a drawing each week. The lucky one would get a nice piece of furniture and a cup out of the club. One lady got a table for 25 cents and several obtained pieces of furniture after paying 25 to 75 cents each.

The same game is being worked in this city and steps should be taken to put a stop to it.

GIRL MISSING RECALLS THE ARNOLD CASE

New York, June 26.—Although a general search is being conducted by the New York police, not the slightest trace has been found today of Miss Helen McCarthy, the sixteen-year-old daughter of John A. McCarthy, a wealthy lawyer, who vanished last Tuesday morning after starting out on an errand for her mother from their hotel.

Private detectives were working on the case today, but as yet have been unable to form a plausible theory for her disappearance. She had no money with her. Several of the headquarters of the city have been searched without answering her description.

"I stopped the child the morning she went away," said her father today. "For some childish stubbornness about going to school. Afterward she became frightened, and when her mother sent her out on an errand we thought nothing more of it. Although 16 years old, she was like a child of 12 in her ways and I can only explain her absence in the theory that someone is holding her. Perhaps she yielded to an unwelcome hand."

Mr. McCarthy was formerly proprietor of the Press Knickerbocker Express in Albany, and Mrs. McCarthy is a sister of the late Bishop Frederick Hunter of the Catholic church.

ARTISTS WRATHFUL AT LUNACY CHARGE

Alliists in Convention Consign Persons of Temperament to "Bughouse."

Chicago, June 26.—A wave of anti-nation that rolled up from Chicago's art colony and bent upon the Hotel Sherman where prominent artists and nerve specialists are holding forth in convention today, drove the heat wave to the shade.

The direct charge by the lunacy specialists that all artists, sculptors and poets are essentially unbalanced, and the intimation that if Robert, Michael Angelo, Hugo, Browning, Byron, Keats and Shelley had been examined by competent alienists they would have been put in insane asylums, provoked all the wrath.

"Such statements," said Director French of the Chicago Art Institute, "lead artists to believe that all doctors, or at least all alienists, are insane about the fact that they are big madhouses."

Having consigned the persons of temperament to the "bughouses," the alienists took a fresh tack. Dr. J. Chesnut King of Atlanta, Ga., who volunteered that exaggerated ideas of love and beauty had caused the mental downfall of the artists and poets, worked the discussion around to a proclamation that "love itself is only a form of insanity."

That led Dr. John A. Lewis of Reno, Nev., to urge the passage by the different states of laws to prohibit the marriage of the mentally unfit. Dr. Lewis did not include loving couples in his list of the "mentally unfit" and some of the younger alienists sighed with relief.

In order to provide sufficient service some of the express trains will make local stops and these contemplating a rail trip should consult notices of make inquiries of ticket agents.

JUDGE GERARD FOR AMBASSADOR TO GERMANY

Washington, June 26.—Justice James W. Gerard of the New York State Supreme Court has been selected by President Wilson to be ambassador to Germany. Justice Gerard was originally slated for Spain.

Just what occasioned the change has not been explained, but it is said to have been the desire of President Wilson to fill the most important European post at once.

The president has decided to nominate ex-Gov. Benton McMillan of Tennessee for Minister of Peru.

An important post, not in the diplomatic service, will soon be offered to Augustus Thomas, playwright, according to present plans. There is also talk of Maurice Francis Egan, Minister to Denmark, being transferred to Spain, but no confirmation was forthcoming today.

The embassy to France is still being held open for William P. McCombs, the Democratic National Chairman. It was reiterated today that within a year Charles R. Crane of Chicago would become Ambassador to Russia. Practically the only European posts which have not been filled or for which no choice has been made are Lisbon, Constantinople and the Italian States.

Joseph B. Willard, formerly Lieutenant Governor of Virginia, is now slated for Madrid. Recently he was selected for Belgium. It has been decided who will take his place on the list for Tennessee.

Justice Gerard sailed from New York yesterday without knowing he had been transferred on the President's list from Madrid to Berlin. After a short trip abroad, however, he is expected to return to Washington, before taking up residence in Berlin.

IN THE STEERAGE IN A STORM.

Next night the wind rose again; our minds broke; the seas washed over us and soaked us to the skin. Even in the hold, where many of the passengers lay like mummies, there was a considerable quantity of sea-water. The waves leaped over the gunwales; they smashed the glass roof of the second-class cabin; they washed one of the boats away. We seemed to be making no progress, to be even at times going astern. At last I heard a sailor say, "It's not in our hands any longer." The captain, who was a ship-minded fellow, asked the pilgrims to pray for the safety of the ship. Then a priest had a happy thought, and asked the pilgrims to subscribe for an hour of St. Nicholas the Wonder-Worker. The distressed captain started the fund with a ruble, and the priest borrowed the metal ship-bells of a samovar and set off on his wonderful mission.

"The captain says we are going to the bottom in a quarter of an hour," said the priest, "but I have prayed to St. Nicholas and promised him a ruble if we get safely to land once more. What will you give?"

The pilgrims put in ten-ruble bills and twenty-five ruble notes and bags full of silver and copper. They put in bottles and hundreds of rubles all that they had. "What is money here, side life?" they said. "Take all that we have!"

Then the priest, who was quick-witted enough, saw that such a collection would be an impossibility to hold should the storm die down, and returned and gave back the money, taking only six-pence from each. "If the storm abates you will be in as bad a plight as ever if you have no money," said he. Despite even that, many pilgrims stuffed notes into his pockets unobserved.

When he had collected sixpence all around he held a service and said prayers, and the pilgrims became strangely calm, and it seemed as if indeed St. Nicholas had intervened. The wind was as strong and the sea as heavy, but somehow the ship seemed to have more mastery. The captain bawled orders through the megaphone; evidently all hope was not lost. Next morning, the wind went down, and though the rolling of the ship was terrible, the pilgrims believed that their prayers had been answered. At length, at four knots an hour, we crawled to the green harbor of Archang, where we remained till there was calm once more. The pilgrims thanked God. They crept out into the sunshine and smiled again like little children. They chuckled over the story they would carry back to all their day-at-home neighbors in their native villages. Yes, truly, he who has not been upon the sea has never prayed to God.—Stephen Graham, in Harper's Magazine for July.

GOLD LIGHT

Cold light enjoys five principal advantages over ordinary light. In the first place there is no danger of its burning or setting anything afire. Concentrating lenses and reflectors are employed with the result that the lamps consume one hundred times less current than any other electric light of the same illuminating power. Again it can be produced by any kind of electric system. Finally, if you cannot use the city electricity, a dry battery or inexpensive pocket accumulator will do, or you can obtain sufficient motive power from the kitchen faucet, a gas burner or a petroleum lamp, and if all these means fail the foot of any small animal—a squirrel or a turning cage for instance—will furnish all the needed motive power. For, as has just been stated, this lamp requires a hundred times less current than the ordinary electric lamp. The fifty and advantage is found in the fact that this light contains ultra violet rays, obtained for the first time without heat and with a hundred times less electricity than is required for other methods. The full importance of this will be realized when it is remembered that these rays are being employed more and more every day in a medicine and chemistry for syntheses, sterilization, and germicides.

Because of these five advantages, cold light has so far been employed in the following ways: It is very useful in projecting lantern slides. Excellent dissolving views or the sudden appearance on the screen of persons or stars can be obtained because of the feeble current required and the simultaneous employment of several lamps, each provided with a very small condenser in place of a shutter until now always used for this purpose. Where formerly two lanterns were with difficulty brought into action, because the light had to be watched and regulated while the shutters produced rough and uneven effects, can now, without any trouble have recourse to as many cold light lanterns as you like, the light requiring no regulating and commutators replacing the shutters, the result being that effects are produced gradually throughout the whole projection with an unprecedented beauty, thus realizing a veritable vision of art. Furthermore you can produce colored shadow pictures, by inserting different tinted glass in each lantern; autochrome transparencies in natural colors can be projected with great brilliancy, and many interesting scientific experiments can be conducted.

Francis Desmond in Harper's Magazine for July.

COUNTRY CLUB SOCIAL

The regular semi-monthly social at the Country Club was held on Thursday afternoon and evening and with an excellent attendance of members. The hostesses were Misses Mildred Dwyer and Ruth Leighton and they were very active in planning for the members.

Bridge whist was played in the afternoon and the prizes were won by Mrs. E. B. Eastman and Mrs. J. E. Pickering.

In the evening there was dancing at the club house from 7 to 11 o'clock with refreshments of tea and coffee.

ARIZONA'S WORLD WONDER

The grand canyon cannot be described in measured terms. Every holder sees it in a different form just as the rolling clouds suggest different resemblances to the eyes of the beholder. Begin with the thought of the canyon 13 miles wide, a mile deep and the Colorado river 289 feet wide imprisoned down in the depths between lofty walls of weather-stained granite and rushing dully on its way. It is buried so deep that only now and then can you get a glimpse of what looks like a little dark ribbon of gray. Above the black granite walls of the river you see what you can easily imagine to be row after row of red brick skyscrapers projecting from the sides of the canyon at acute angles and always pinnacled by imposing towers.

The height of these prodigious skyscrapers and towers cannot be measured by the imagination. They seem to be a few hundred feet from the foundation walls. The colors are marvelous.—Harper's Weekly.

PRESIDENTIAL NOMINATIONS

Washington, June 26.—President Wilson today made the following nominations:

Ministers, Albert C. Schneidermann of Wisconsin to Norway; Benton McMillan of Tennessee to Peru.

Counsel at Milan, Italy, Nathaniel B. Stewart, Georgia.

Secretary of embassy, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, J. Butler Wright of Wyoming.

Secretary of legation, Brussels, Fred Morris Dearing of Missouri.

Member of the Isthmian Canal commission, Richard Lee Metcalf of Lincoln, Neb.

To be commissioners of the District of Columbia, Oliver P. Newman, formerly of Des Moines; E. L. Shadens of the District of Columbia.

APPLY TORCH TO FRIGATE WABASH.

Boston, Me., June 26.—The torch was applied to the United States frigate Wabash today and the famous old wooden man-of-war of civil war days was burned that her valuable metals might be secured by Boston junk dealers to whom she had been sold for about $3000. Much of the metal work had been removed at East Boston and since the vessel was towed here two weeks ago. The Wabash was built at Philadelphia in 1854. She took a prominent part, both in defensive operations in the civil war and was used as a flagship by Rear Admiral Dahlgren and Dupont.

STILL WANTS TO INVESTIGATE THE ATTORNEY GENERAL

Washington, June 26.—Representative Kahn's resolutions to have Congress investigate why Atty. Gen. McReynolds ordered the delay in the new celebrated Diggs-Caminetti white slave cases and the Western Fuel Company prosecutions, at San Francisco, were not taken up today by the House Judiciary Committee because of lack of a quorum. Another meeting is to be held tomorrow.

Representative Kahn says President Wilson's direction that the prosecutions be immediately resumed will not deter him from passing his resolutions, and he expects them reported out to the House for action.

Mr. Kahn made a statement of the history of the cases to those members who attended today's meeting, and declared the committee owed it to the country to make public all the correspondence which resulted in the postponement. He added that he did not think the explanation made by Pres. Wilson was satisfactory.

Mr. Kahn agreed to a suggested amendment to his resolutions, which would confine the request for papers to those which bear upon the postponement of the cases, and would not involve all the voluminous correspondence relating to the evidence in the cases.

President Wilson and Atty. Gen. McReynolds still want Francis J. Heney for a special prosecutor. The offer will be made formally as soon as Washington can get in touch with the lawyer, who has been traveling from here to San Francisco.

THE YORK BEACH TEAM

Manager Charles F. Young of the York Beach base ball team is making arrangements for four fast base ball players from Manchester to play with the beach aggregation this season. Phil Richards, star slapper from the Manchester high school, who expects to enter Phillips Exeter this fall, and who captained the local team this season; John McDonough, one of the best second basemen that has ever represented the high school, who was elected captain for next season; Carl Cavanaugh who played the field position for the M. H. S. and James Dowd former St. Joseph's high-player, now a student at St. Anselm's college, are the men who Manager Young is trying hard to get for this season's team.

Cavanaugh and Dowd will alternate in playing the right field position, having already consented to join the ranks of the York nine. Richards will probably join the team in the middle of July and if satisfactory arrangements can be made will pitch the opening game against the Woonsocket national nine. McDonough will be seen in a York Beach uniform for part of the season at least.

Manager Young is to have one of the fastest teams that has played at this resort in years. He has secured players from the New Hampshire State college, Everett High School, Wakefield High School, Worcester Academy, Puncard High School and Rock Ridge Hall. Should Richards decide to play the whole season, he will be the star man and will pitch the big games along with Johnny Murray of Everett High. McDonough would hold down the position which George Brickley of Everett took care of last year.

The season opens on the Fourth of July when York plays a double header at Dover with the fast town team. The following Saturday, the Woonsocket Nationals of Rhode Island will be the attraction in the opening game at the beach.

NEWINGTON

Mr. and Mrs. John Greenough attended the reception and graduation exercises of the Lynn High school on Tuesday, their nephew, John Goodwin, being one of the graduates.

The schools are closed for the long summer vacation and teachers and pupils will have time for much pleasure and rest.

Willis Hoyt, who recently graduated from the High school in Cambridge, is passing the summer at home and in the fall will enter New Hampshire College at Durham.

Viola Hoyt, who has been attending school in Stoneham, Mass., the past year, is at home for the summer.

The Reapers' Society gave their monthly social at the town hall on Tuesday evening. A goodly number were present to enjoy the program which was finely rendered by the young people. After the intense heat of the day the cake and ice cream was very refreshing.

Lester E. Collins has recently purchased some S. C. W. Lechorn's hens and will exhibit them in the poultry shows in this vicinity the coming fall and winter. These birds received blue ribbons at Manchester, Derry, Lebanon and Milford, N. H., last year.

Strawberry pickers are now busy, the luscious fruit will yield a small crop in this vicinity on account of the dry weather. The showers have all passed around, although Portsmouth and other towns nearby had a small downfall of rain last week. All crops are in great need of rain.

Wendell Coleman and Charles Jackson will receive prizes for perfect attendance in the grammar school during the past year.

SAYS ENGLISHMEN WERE WELL TREATED

New York, June 26.—Capt. B. D. Miller, who acted as the English umpire in the international polo matches sailed this morning for England. It was Miller who called the foul that took the lead away from the English team and gave the American four the second and concluding game of the series. Capt. Miller expressed himself as having enjoyed his stay in America and left a letter addressed to Spencer Ashe, polo secretary of the club, in which he emphasized gratitude for the way in which Mr. Ashe had facilitated the comfort of the visitors.

LOBBY HEARING PUT OVER FOR A TIME

Washington, June 26.—Hearings of the Senate "lobby" committee, reopened to allow Robert S. Lovett of the Union Pacific railroad to testify, will be suspended again until the Democratic Senate caucus has finished its work on the tariff bill.

Chairman Overman has made no plans for the continuance of the investigation, but it is expected men who have been active in supporting the wool tariff will be interrogated next week.

Testimony already taken, showing large expenditures by men connected with the sugar tariff fight, is being studied by senators and the report to the Senate probably will recommend a close regulation of similar activity in the future. Witnesses have told of spending more than $150,000 in the past year or so for publicity, salaries and general expenses of the educational and publicity campaign, both for and against the removal of the sugar tariff.

Expenditures of the beet sugar forces since 1902 were given as about $150,000. Henry T. Oxnard's testimony showed that he had spent probably $200,000 in Washington in the past 23 years in the general fight for the growing beet sugar industry. No evidence has been produced that any of the money was spent in an improper way, unless the committee decides that the expenditures for publicity were wrongful.

Mr. Lovett told the Senate committee last night that a long continued and determined effort had been made to have Edward Lantieri, a New York lawyer, retained by his company "to grease the wheels" in Washington and prevent unpleasant agitation in Congress against the dissolution plan of the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific system.

PLANS WILL NOT BE FORMULATED UNTIL AFTER JULY 4.

Washington, June 26.—Plans for carrying on the coming mid-presidential campaign will not be formulated by the Democratic and Republican Congressional Committees until after July 4, when Senators and Representatives begin coming back from holiday trips.

Chairman Doremus of the Democratic Committee left today for his Maryland home and will take up consideration of the committee's work upon his return early in July. His first action will be to choose a treasurer and five members to represent the Congressional Committee to cooperate with five members of the Democratic National Committee as a joint executive campaign committee.

The Republican Congressional Committee has yet to select a chairman. It is understood an effort will be made to get as head of the committee a political executive who has, or can command, considerable funds for carrying on the campaign work. In both the Democratic and Republican National Committees the necessity for getting sufficient funds for a thorough campaign has been pointed out.

NEED 10,000 INCHES OF HUMAN SKIN

Buffalo, June 26.—Over 10,000 square inches of skin must be given for grafting purposes if the death list of the Husted elevator explosion and fire is to be kept from reaching far more appalling proportions, according to conservative estimates of physicians in attendance on the injured at the various hospitals.

To meet this demand the services of between 200 and 300 volunteers will be required. In individual cases a friend or relative has offered his skin.

ORIENTAL "DA-DA."

"One of the things that struck me as being very peculiar when I first began to get acquainted with Oriental languages was the baby talk mothers used to their children," said a man who has lived for many years in the Far East.

"Of course, being a family man, I knew all about baby talk in my own tongue—indeed, I may say that I had taken a post-graduate course in the jargon myself—but somehow it had never occurred to me that people speaking another language had coined a similar fond nonsense for the nursery, and the discovery that baby talk is limited to no particular race or climate gave me quite a shock.

"Why, I nearly had a spasm the first day I heard a Chinese mother croon the equivalent for 'muzzler's little pet, and when I got so I could understand the translation of 'Didums little toofoos hurt um?' I was so astonished that I had to lay off from office work for a whole day to recuperate.

"Of course, when you figure the thing out, you find that there is no reason why baby talk should not prevail the world over. A baby is a baby and a mother is a mother, no matter where you find them, and it is only natural that he words addressed to a youngster should assume a diminutive form. Still, in spite of that common-sense way of looking at it, I never got quite used to Oriental gibberish, and to this day, when I hear Chinese parents talk about 'Jress um's little heart' and 'Was um's duss ee seest little sing' in their own jargon, I want to go behind the door and snigger, for it really does sound funny.

"Is a queer thing, any way, this baby talk. I know an artist who has spent the past 20 years knocking about over the globe, camping right down to the homes of 'the people' for local color. He has a smattering of two score of languages, and he says that, no matter where he is or how tight a fix he may be in, the minute he hears a word of baby talk he feels safe.

"People to whom baby talk comes natural have a very comfortable way with them. They make their meaning known with marvelous quickness. A person may be almost ignorant of a language, but just let some woman start up a string of infantile endearments and the stranger will declare straight off, 'That's baby talk, all right,' even though he doesn't understand a word that is spoken.

"I believe if I were in the wilds of Africa and heard anybody coo 'Goreely, goreely, gon,' I'd say, 'Tial means 'Ze little, little lamb,' and settle down for a good night's rest.' New York Sun.

MORE POTTERY MADE

Value of United States Production and Imports, 1912 Exceeds $5,000,000

People are making and breaking more dyes and saucers than ever before. Last year, according to figures compiled by Jefferson Middleton of the United States Geological Survey, pottery in the United States for 1912 consumed in the United States, of this and the domestic product was valued at $5,000,000. The import product at $1,000,000. The output of pottery in the United States for 1912 exceeded an income in value of $1,000,000 over that for 1911. Every product except stoneware and yellow and buffing ware was participated in the increase. The largest showing, the largest absolute gain, was in earthenware, which increased 27.70 per cent, and the largest percentage gain was in porcelain, which increased 10.00 per cent. The value of white ware, including china, but excluding sanitary ware and porcelain electrical supplies, was $1,000,000 in 1912, compared with $1,000,000 in 1911. China ware, which is a by-product of $110,000, the value reported for 1912 being the highest ever recorded.

Ohio continued to be the leading pottery-producing state of the Union, reporting value at $1,500,000, or 30.00 per cent of the total, an increase of $733,470. Ohio's principal pottery product is white ware, which represents general household wares.

New Jersey was the second largest pottery producing state, the value of its product in 1912 being $9,033,930, an increase of $533,978. The principal pottery product of the state is sanitary ware. West Virginia was third in 1912, with a value at $3,365,166, or $484,964 more than the value of the output in 1911. New York, Pennsylvania, Indiana, and Illinois were fourth, fifth, sixth, and seventh, respectively, in the value of output in 1912.

According to Jefferson Middleton's report, the pottery industry was in a high state of development during the year and the value of the pottery products marketed was the largest in the history of the industry. This was due partly to the general prosperity enjoyed by the country at large, but more especially to the steady improvement in the ware themselves in body, design and decoration. American pottery is gaining a stronger hold on the market, becoming more popular every year. Many if not most of the best hotels and clubs in the country are now using large quantities of domestic china.

STABLEMAN'S RIG GONE

Horse and Carriage Taken for Imaginary Funeral.

Haverhill, June 26.—The police commenced a New England-wide search this afternoon for a stolen horse and carriage which was left yesterday on representation that a man wanted to take his mother to a funeral at Haverhill, N. H. As a matter of fact, there hasn't been anyone die at Haverhill for a long time and the funeral of yesterday afternoon was a myth, as was the mother, who was to have attended the disquiety.

R. L. Wood runs a stable on State street and early in the afternoon he received a call from a fellow who told him about having a relative's funeral at Haverhill that afternoon and he his aged mother wanted to go he thought it would be better to engage a separate rig. One was made up for him, a good horse and a good carriage, and he set out for Haverhill promising to be back not later than 6 o'clock. He didn't show up, nor did the rig come back during the night and this morning the owner reported the case to the police and asked for their assistance in recovering the outfit.

The horse was an 850-lb. and dark brown mare and was attached to a low-wheeled, rubber tired, piano-box buggy. The fellow to whom it was let was apparently about 25 years old and well dressed and that is as complete a description as Wood is able to furnish of him.

WILSON DECLINES TO GIVE "DAY AFTER" HOLIDAY

Washington, June 26.—Half masted flags over the government buildings were not necessary today to symbolize the gloom that settled over the several thousand government clerks and employees when it was learned that President Wilson had declined to grant them a full holiday July 5. Petitions had been filed with the president setting forth that as July 4 was a holiday and the following Saturday, inaugurating the Saturday half holiday summer schedule, it would be appreciated if the chief executive would make Saturday a complete holiday, thereby giving the clerks three full days in which to enjoy a vacation.

The president's declination was due to the fact that he did not care to establish a precedent.

TO HOLD FAREWELL DANCE

The class of 1913 of the Portsmouth high school are planning a farewell dance, which will be held at the hotel Farragut, Rye Beach on Tuesday evening. The affair is by invitation and limited to 75 couples and the young people are anticipating a very fine time.

A LAW WITHOUT AN ENFORCEMENT CLAUSE

Boston, June 26.—The elaborate act passed during the recent session of the Legislature for the regulation of the birdmen appears to be null and void, so far as the administration of this new law is concerned. The new act defined very specifically what fees the operators of airships, etc., should pay, and defined new laws of the air similar to those of the road for automobiles. The State Highway Commissioners were given supervision of airmen and aircraft.

Within a few days W. Starling Burgess and Mr. Prince, well-known flyers, sent in formal applications to the Highway Commissioners for the required licenses under the new act. With the application blanks the birdmen sent in the stipulated fees.

The Highway Commissioners however, returned the money with the information to the applicants that the Legislature, while it passed the licensing and supervisory legislation, forgot to make any appropriation to carry out the provisions of the new act. "We have no money and therefore can do nothing in the premises," said a member of the Highway Commission today.

Asked as to whether or not the fees provided for in the act would not cover the expenses of administration, the reply of the secretary of the Highway Commission was that these fees did not go to the board, but to the State treasury.

The Attorney General will undoubtedly be interviewed by those who labored for the passage of the act. At present however, the new law has no effect and the supervising board doesn't hesitate to admit the fact.

CHINA EGG IS EATEN BY SNAKE

Newton, N. J., June 26.—While hunting for eggs at her home at East Swartwood, Mrs. Jackson Rose found a blacksnake coiled in a hen's nest. Her husband armed himself with a rake and killed the snake which appeared disconcerted and failed to show fight.

Rosa saw a large jump in the snake's throat. He performed a surgical operation with his penknife, and found a china egg lodged in his snake's mouth. Just back of the head.

For weeks there has been a scarcity of eggs on the Rose farm, and Rose thinks blacksnakes are responsible.

GENERAL ASKS FOR AN AMBULANCE AND WHEEL CHAIR

Gettysburg, Pa., June 26.—That Gettysburg has a great task before her in feeding and housing the thousands of visitors who will come in to see the reunion of the "blue" and the "gray" next week is manifest today. Every train arriving carries hundreds of persons, and nearly every train is being run in sections. A message was received today from General Daniel R. Bickles, saying that he will arrive on Sunday and asking that he be furnished an ambulance and a wheel chair. The "command" of the general who lost a leg in the battle, will be obeyed.

BOYS GETTING TROUBLE SOME

The police have received complaints of boys hanging around High street, interfering and bothering automobile owners. Thursday evening the driver of an automobile was cut and if the boys can be located they will be brought into court.

NARROW ESCAPE.

Brakeman Under the Tender of Moving Engine Slightly Injured.

Frank Faulkner, one of the switching crew of the Boston & Maine freight yard passed through an experience on Thursday which nearly cost him his life and which will be fresh in his mind for many days. With a locomotive backing toward him he attempted to get on the same by stepping on a board on the rear of the tender. He missed his footing and fell back on the tiers. McAlaire, another of the switching crew, saw his fellow workman fall and cried out to the men in the cab. The engineer was quick in reversing the machine but he was unable to stop the engine before the tender had passed over him as he lay between the rails. Faulkner hugged the ground as well as he could and none of the brake rigging on the tender touched him. A half second more and the ash pan of the fire box would have crushed out his life. He was pulled out from beneath the tender by the other brakemen. His only injury appeared to be on one hand where he had wrenched the thumb.
